

We, in our house, like things as they are. We put our name on the no-call list because that is what we wanted...peace and quiet and to know that when the telephone rings it will be someone we WANT to talk to.